HORACE GREELEY TO GOVERNOR PERRY

SIR: Your letter of the 15th ult is herewith published as requested. Hoping to promote your object in writing it I assure the readers of the Tribune that it expresses quite accurately the views and sentiments of the more intelligent and considerate class of those who were engaged in the late rebellion. I do not think those readers so ignorant or misinformed as you presume them, but when you and I agree that your letter is a fair expression of the views of the better class of recent secessionists, it seems that there should be no room for further discussion on the score of misrepresentation.

The journals that sympathize with you will print your letter and suppress my reply. No matter, since further appeals to force are repudiated, the truth can afford that advantage to error.

I. You assure me that "there is no feeling of unkindness on the part of the former slave-owners toward their freedmen." I believe this is true of the better class of ex masters, and that this is a very large one. At the same time, I know—for the evidence is overwhelming—that most of ex-slaveholders hold that they have been wrongfully divested of the services of their freedmen; that emancipation was and is robbery, whereby they are deprived of what is rightfully theirs. Can you wonder, then, that we, who have achieved that emancipation, in spite of your weapons and your Northern allies' denunciations and votes, should hesitate to intrust the rights and privileges of the Freedmen to your uncontrolled discretion, your unrestricted power? Can you wonder that the blacks, thus freed, should object to being left at your mercy?

II. I believe all you say of abuses and wrongs inflicted on the blacks by Federal soldiers. Many of these are low bred men, and every white ruffian or rowdy, drunkard or reprobate whether at the North or at the South, is a natural, instinctive hater and persecutor of the blacks. The same gangs of rebel sympathizers who, in July, 1863, mobbed and fired the Tribune office, burned the Colored Orphan Asylum and hunted unoffending, fleeing blacks through our streets; killing them, whenever they could, simply because of their color. We, who have long hoped and struggled for emancipation, do not choose to leave the freedmen at the mercy of these villains, no matter whether they be Northern or Southern, Union or Rebel. Can you blame us?

III. You say that your State has done for her blacks, "pretty much all that the Civil Rights bill proposes to do, except making them citizens of the State," and that "there are very few offenses [penalties?] in our criminal code which do not apply to the white man as well as the negro." I thank you heartily for every step you have taken in this direction. I thank President Johnson for every hint he has given you that you must take them. If you have gone part way toward Equal Rights and Equal Laws, the difficulty of going all the way has been nearly surmounted.

IV. As to the negro's desire to be fully enfranchised, I hold his own testimony as necessarily better than yours. I know personally a great many blacks and I hear from very many more, who were residents of various parts of our Union. I know hundreds who do desire the right of suffrage, can you find a dozen who do not? The blacks of most States have organizations, and have held large conventions. From every one of these, the demand for equal rights secured by equal laws is unanimous and hearty. If you of the South will submit the question to an unconstrained, unawed vote of the black, I agree to abandon the demand for the right of suffrage if seven eighths of all who vote do not vote to claim it.

V. You say that the negro, if enfranchised, "would always vote as directed by his employer." Yet, in another place, you talk of the "damning punishment" to be inflicted on "the Southern people" by "the leaders of the Radical party in Congress"—of their "fiendish purpose," viz: "First, the negro is to be invested with all political power, and then the antagonism of interest between Capital and Labor is to work out the result" which is to be "horrible fate" for your people!

Gov Perry, such flagrant, suicidal contradictions warrant me in telling you that you talk at random—that you are equally wrong in asserting that the negro "would always vote as directed by his employers," and that he would necessarily vote against that employer, under the wild hallucination of "a natural antagonism between Capital and Labor." I trust you have too much sense to believe in such antagonism; at all events, I am sure your late slaves have. I think the laboring class naturally, though not uniformly, incline to vote with employers who treat them kindly and respect their manhood, when they can do so without hazarding the loss of their own rights. I have no doubt that those planters of your State who treat the freedmen well and maintain their right to be treated by all as men, could quite generally influence their votes. But, while you stubbornly resist enfranchisement, and make no concessions of rights to the Blacks but such as are forced from you, you seem to me to be squandering precious opportunities and arousing feelings of distrust and dislike that it were better to preclude.

VI Let me say, once for all, that I make no profession of love for the negro race, and that your claim to superior "regard" for or "interest" in the black race is wholly unrivaled. I do not love negroes as negroes, I like whites better; but I comprehend that justice is all men's true interest, and that a wrong done to the humblest, the most despised, is an injury and a peril to all. My superior regard for the white race leads me to protest against and seek to prevent, to foreclose, to preclude, any injustice by it to any race or class whatever. Are not you Christian enough to realize that it is more lamentable to do wrong than to suffer it? If you are, why need I constantly repel this assumption that I am impelled by special affection for blacks?

VII You tell me that the negro is inferior to the white man (which I have never disputed)—and you prove it by citing the fact that the blacks of Hayti do not allow whites to vote. If I thought the whites of this country inferior to the blacks, I might seek to protect the former by a Haytian exclusion of the latter from political rights. I can quite understand why the negroes of this country, if they possessed a monopoly of political power, might seek to guard and perpetuate it, from jealousy of the superior mental capacity of the whites, but for the whites to act in that panicky way is an impeachment of their own relative abilities against which I indignantly protest.

VIII. I quite agree with you that population affords an equitable basis of political power, provided it is human population. If horses, mules and oxen are reckoned, I do not agree to it. If any class is fit to be an element or substratum of political power then it is fit to vote. And, at all events, I cannot consent that half the people of your State shall be good enough to balance an equal number of white freemen in New York, but not good enough to cast a vote. It will not do, Governor! be assured of it! There is no analogy in the case of women and children. The husband and father votes for his wife and children—he considers their interest the same as his own—his vote is representative, paternal, comprehensive—but you whites of South Carolina do not vote for the blacks of your State—you are in no sense their representatives—your relation to them is radically different from that which binds you to your wives and children—the analogy is too palpably fallacious to deceive any one. You must let the blacks vote or agree that they shall not count.

IX. There is very much of "railing accusation" in your letter which I pass in silence. I do not agree that the blacks of the South are destined to extermination, because I do not believe they are to be left to the tender mercies of her whites. As to the Freedmen's Bureau, it is to-day subsisting quite as many whites as blacks, and I joyfully trust that it may very soon be dispensed with. Give us equal rights secured by equal laws, and let the Bureau be abolished at once! Some will die whom its operations would keep alive, but the blacks are very willing to take their chance without it if they may thereby secure the inestimable blessing of just and equal laws.

X. You and I are not likely to view the late rebellion alike. You hold it an assertion of "the right of self government," I regard it as the fruit of a conspiracy of slaveholders to extend the area and increase the power of their infernal institution. You talk of "the right to change and alter their form of government" in the same breath that you deny the right of four millions of Southern people to any voice whatever in framing or modifying their government or the laws under which they live. It is plain that we are at variance with respect to first principles, and cannot profitably argue till we have settled the meaning of terms. From your point of view, the firing on an unarmed steamboat sent with food to the Federal garrison in Fort Sumter, the encircling of that fort with frowning iron-clad batteries, the robbery of the Federal arsenals, arsenals and subtreasuries throughout the South, the seizure of of the National fortresses, the betrayal and captivity (under Buchanan, mind you!) of the Federal army guarding the frontiers of Texas, the mob violence and terrorism which hunted down and silenced Unionists, especially of Northerners, throughout the slaveholding region, and, finally, the bombardment and reduction of Fort Sumter, were all striking exemplifications of the pacific, lamblike tendencies of the conspirators for secession. Why, then, should you and I discuss the matter? That "the Southern people"—(I mean, for this once, the whites only)—were not for secession until bullied, terrorized, lied into acquiescence in the plot, through dread of more immediate if not more formidable perils, I hold myself at all times ready to demonstrate. That the conspirators knew they were not, is proved by the haste of the South Carolina oligarchy to rush their State out of the Union without awaiting any form of "co-operation." The fact that in all the States that seceded before Sumter was bombarded to "fire the Southern heart," there was a cautious avoidance of any fair, frank submission of the momentous ordinance to a popular vote, with the utter rout of the secessionists in a majority of the slave States, have an eloquence that far outweighs argument. I need not expatiate on them.

Gov. Perry! it is the hight of presumption in those who for years did their utmost to destroy the Union, now to assume to measure and limit the rights of loyal men, White or Black, at whose hands they experienced so terrible a defeat—so complete an overthrow. You ought to counsel them to accept readily, gratefully, Equal Rights secured by Equal Laws as the basis of a prompt, thorough, beneficent Reconstruction. When before did ever the absolute victors in so mighty a struggle say to the vanquished, "Let us henceforth be equals!" only to have the overture repelled and scouted? I entreat you to consider!

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 13, 1866

The United States, Austria and Mexico

Secretary Seward has lately addressed a note to Mr Motley, our Minister at Vienna, in reply to the information conveyed by the latter that Austria was about to send 1,000 troops to the assistance of Maximilian—which, had it come from any other Premier, would not allow the country hereafter to entertain a doubt as to the policy of the United States in relation to Mexico and the great Powers which have attempted to establish an absolute monarchy there upon the ruins of republicanism. The words of Secretary Seward's note are significant enough in appearance, but whether they are fraught with any real meaning, it must take time to develop. True, he says that "this Government could not but regard with serious concern the despatch of any troops from Austria to Mexico," but when Congress expressed a similar sentiment two years ago in regard to the sailing of French troops for the same destination, Mr. Seward hastened to apologize for the declaration to the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, and to assure him that Congress had nothing to do with the foreign policy of the United States! If the time has actually arrived "when the attitude of this Government in relation to Mexican affairs is to be frankly and distinctly made known," the country will be glad of it, for it must be owned that up to this time, it has been not a little difficult to make out what our "attitude" in this regard has been.

All the Secretary's former declarations on this subject, have turned out to be but the cheapest and emptiest sort of bombast. Time will tell whether the following dispatch is intended to have a real meaning, or whether it was indited for pure buncombe, and to blind the eyes of the people, as many other dispatches from the Secretary's pen have evidently been:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, Washington, April 16, 1866.

SIR: I have had the honor to receive your dispatch of the 27th of March (No. 155) which brings the important announcement that a treaty called a "Military Supplementary Convention," was ratified on the 15th of that month between the Emperor of Austria and Prince Maximilian, who claims to be an Emperor in Mexico. You inform me that it is expected that about 1,000 volunteers will be shipped under the treaty from Trieste to Vera Cruz very soon, and that at least as many more will be shipped in the autumn. I have heretofore given you the President's instructions to ask for explanations, and conditionally to inform the Government of Austria that the despatch of military expeditions by Austria under such arrangement as the one which seems now to have been consummated would be regarded with serious concern by the United States. The subject has now been further considered in connection with the official information thus recently received.

The time seems to have arrived when the attitude of the Government in relation to Mexican affairs should be once again frankly and distinctly made known to the Emperor of Austria and all other Powers whom it may directly concern. The United States, for reasons that seem to be just, and to have their foundations in the law of nations, maintain that the domestic Republican Government with which they are on relations of friendly communication, is the only legitimate Government existing in Mexico; that a war for a period of several years been waged against that Republic by the Government of France, which was begun by a disclaimer of all political or dynastic designs, that that war has subsequently taken upon itself and now distinctly wears the character of a European intervention to overthrow that Republican Government, and to erect in its stead an European imperial military despotism by military force. The United States, in view of the character of their own political institutions, their proximity and intimate relations towards Mexico, and their just influence in the political affairs of the American continent, cannot consent to the accomplishment of that purpose by the means described. The United States have therefore addressed themselves, as they think reasonably, to the Government of France, and have asked that its military forces engaged in that objectionable political invasion may desist from further intervention and be withdrawn from Mexico.

"You are authorized to state that the United States sincerely desire that Austria may find it just and expedient to come upon the same ground of non-intervention in Mexico which is maintained by the United States, and to which they have invited France. You will communicate to us the answer of the Austrian Government to this proposition. This Government could not but regard as a matter of serious concern the dispatch of any troops from Austria to Mexico, while the subject you are thus directed to present to the Austrian Government remains under consideration."

GRANT.—In Grant county the Democratic State ticket seems to have 61 majority, according to the best information we can get. It is claimed by the Democrats that there was some informality in the manner in which the soldiers' votes at Camp Watson were taken. According to our information the votes were taken at the camp, some four miles distant from the place at which it was understood that the polls were to have been opened. We learn, however, that the regularly appointed judges and clerks of election officiated during the day. If this be true, it is not likely that the votes can be thrown out of the official canvass.

The Walla Walla Statesman says: "The Assessor reports over 1,000 legal voters in the county, (Walla Walla) whilst the returns foot up very little over 600." Nothing very strange in this; a large part of the balance of 400 evidently voted in Umatilla county in this State. How else could the Democrats have obtained 250 majority on the State ticket in that county, while the county ticket has no more than 50 majority?

PERSONAL.—Hon. Samuel Brown, State Senator elect from Marion county, called on us yesterday. Mr. B. wears his newly acquired honors with becoming meekness. He will be found, in the Legislature, standing firmly for Union men and Union measures.

DOUGLAS.—A dispatch from B. Herman, dated "Roseburg, June 12th, 8:30 P. M.," states that Woods' official majority in Douglas county is 86. The same dispatch says that the Union majority in Coos and Curry counties is estimated from fifty to sixty.

JUDGE OF 1ST DISTRICT.—P. P. Prim, democrat, is elected in the 1st Judicial District, majority not reported. Prim is the present Judge of that district.

ELECTION AT WALLA WALLA.—The entire Democratic-guerrilla ticket was elected in Walla Walla county by majorities ranging from 100 to 200.

Blackfoot News.

The Mountaineer of the 11th, contains the following Blackfoot news

From a letter written from Blackfoot City, May 21st, we take the following: "This place is not near as good as has been represented. It is true there are some good claims here; but they are a few only. I have been in McClelland's gulch, there are but few rich claims in it. I have been in five or six different mining camps, there is very little work doing in any of them. The owners of claims are all anxious to sell, which does not speak well for the diggings. There are too many looking for work where one can get it. This is a singular climate; we have three or four kinds of weather in one day, rain, hail, snow and sunshine. We had a hard trip up here. Camping out is not so pleasant as some may imagine. The following are about the prices current here: Flour, from $18 to $24 per hundred; beef, 40 cents per pound, mutton, 44 cents, sugar, 90 cents, tea, $4 per pound, and tobacco $4,50 per pound. We expect these figures will be considerably reduced before long, as trains are coming in from all directions every day."

From D. V. Waldron, expressman from Helena, the Walla Walla Statesman obtains the following:

Left Elk Creek May 20th. The town is crowded with people and business is lively. The miners are getting their claims open and taking out good pay. All the claims opened on Elk, Bear, and Deep Gulches are paying well. I saw $47 washed from one pan of dirt, taken from Messrs. Warren, Bonner & Co's claim on Deep Gulch.

Goods of all kinds are very low in all the camps. Flour sold at $15 per hundred at Helena on the 20th, and other articles were selling proportionately. Several wagons had arrived from Los Angeles, freighted with goods for the Blackfoot market.

New gold discoveries are being made every few days, and always followed by the usual mining camp stampedes.

The old snow was nearly all gone, but three or four inches fell on the 25th, and it was still snowing on the 26th. There was no snow out of the mountains.

A man by the name of Bob Reiny was killed by John Williams, at the mouth of Bear Gulch. Difficulty something about a ranch. Did not learn the particulars. Williams was arrested and taken to Reynold's City and committed for trial.

Some trains have arrived by way of Boise, and a large number by Pend d'Oreille lake. I met the first trains by the Coeur d'Alene route at the Bitter Root Ferry, and two trains eight miles beyond the summit of the mountains. The roads this way, are lined with trains, cattle and sheep.

There is about fifteen miles of snow in the mountains, but it is not bad travelling over it. The high waters are the greatest obstacle, but the streams are falling rapidly. The high water trail is very good, but mountainous. There is about eighty miles of bad road in the Coeur d'Alene mountains, which would cost no great sum to repair.

The waters have been some four to six feet higher this spring than ever before known to the old settlers. The bridge on the Spokane stands in perfect order, and also the one on the Palouse by Texas Ferry.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO JUNE 6.

The Fenian Uproar.

CHICAGO, June 10.—Reports [illegible] the following is a summary of the news of the 7th and 8th.

The Fenian excitement [illegible] until when President Johnson issued his proclamation directing Gen. Meade to [illegible] and militia to arrest Fenians [illegible] [illegible] Buffalo, the second [illegible] and the third under [illegible] at St. Albans [illegible] and from Franklin, N. Y. [illegible] the same night [illegible] Franklin [illegible] command [illegible] Cavalry [illegible] to Pigeon Hill, four miles [illegible] St. Albans that night, to await reinforcements and other supplies. The Malone movement was prevented by the arrest of Gen. Murphy on the 5th. The men after rioting somewhat throughout the day at Malone were finally put into subjection. Reports up to last evening say that Spear's invasion was a failure; no reinforcements, men straggling back and no transportation being furnished at St. Albans.

Wm. R. Roberts, Fenian President, issued a proclamation on the 5th, counseling the Brotherhood to renewed efforts. He was arrested by U. S. Marshal Manning on the 7th, and arraigned before Commissioner Betts, when he assumed a defiant attitude, refusing to accept bail coupled with parole. Roberts was then remanded to custody, and the hotels refusing to entertain him while under arrest fearing attempts to rescue, he was lodged in the Eldridge street jail. Numerous other leading Fenians were arrested on the 7th at Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago and St. Louis, and the furore of war turned into indignation and despondency.

Great indignation meetings were held denouncing President Johnson for playing false with the Fenians. Colonel O'Neil and other leaders of the Fenian expedition, were arraigned before the U. S. Commissioner of Buffalo, on the 7th, and gave bonds to appear for trial before the U. S. Commissioner at Canandaigua on the 19th inst. Fenian privates of that expedition, to the number of 450, were released.

Sweeny was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Hoyt at St. Albans yesterday and remanded to custody in default of $25,000 bail. The Fenian failure is made more complete from the fact that nowhere in Canada has there been the least show of sympathy where riots and uprisings were expected.

The Canadian Parliament has assembled. The Governor's speech recommended the suspension of habeas corpus. Fenian prisoners held by the Canadian Government, have not yet been arraigned for trial.

Jeff. Davis to be Tried in October—Mail Letting—Congressional.

CHICAGO, June 9.—The United States District Court met at Richmond on Tuesday and on Wednesday the case of Jefferson Davis was postponed until the first Thursday in October, to which day the Court adjourned. No motion was made, as expected, to release Davis, the District Attorney saying that Davis was not in the custody of the Court.

The contract for daily mail service from Virginia City, Nevada, via Humboldt to Boise City, for four years from 1st of September, has been given to Jesse D. Carr, formerly of Monterey, Cal.

In the Senate, on the 6th inst., Sherman, from the select committee reported a bill granting aid to the National Telegraph Company conditional upon its not selling out or consolidating with any other company.

The Senate passed the reconstruction constitutional amendment—yeas 33—having amended it in several particulars not before reported. The following is the full resolution, as returned to the House for its concurrence:

Resolved, That the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States, as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which when ratified by three-fourths of the Legislatures aforesaid shall be made a part of the Constitution, namely:

Article.—Sec. 1st. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State where they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SEC. 2. Representatives shall be proportioned among the several States, according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. Whenever the right to vote at any election for electors of President and Vice President, or Representatives in Congress, Executive and Judicial officers, or members of the Legislatures thereof shall be denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being 21 years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crimes, the basis of representation therein shall be the number of male citizens twenty one years of age. [This, as reported by telegraph, is quite unintelligible.—ED.]

SEC. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or any State who, having previously taken the oath as member of Congress or officer of the United States, or as member of State Legislature or Executive or Judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemy. Congress may by a vote of two thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Section 4. The justness of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for the payment of pension annuities for services in suppressing the rebellion, shall not be questioned, but neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection against the United States, or any claim for loss of the emancipation of any slave; but all such debts and claims shall be held illegal and void.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—S. S. Rawson, for many years a resident of this city, was found dead in his room yesterday afternoon. He was lying on the floor with his clothes on when discovered, and is supposed to have died suddenly the night previous, as he was about going to bed. Appearances indicate the cause of death to have been hemorrhage of the lungs. Mr. Rawson was a native of Maine, about sixty years of age—a lawyer by profession, and has been located here several years past, principally as searcher of records. He was formerly Collector of Customs in Eastport, Maine, and once held a clerkship in one of the departments at Washington.

Judge Dwinelle to-day granted Catherine Collins a divorce from her husband, James S. Collins, on the ground of extreme cruelty.

The Crown Point Silver Mining Company declared a dividend to-day of $50 per foot, and Hale & Norcross declared one of $50 per foot.

In the absence of late gold quotations from the East, legal tenders are inactive. Brokers quote them at 72 buying and 73c selling. Commercial affairs are extremely dull, all parties awaiting later telegraphic advices from the East.

The stock market is a shade firmer to-day, though the volume of business is moderate. Hale and Norcross advanced $25; Yellow Jacket, $10; Belcher and Ophir each $2 50; Imperial and Challar-Potosi each $1.

Arrived, June 10th—Bark Cambridge, Hamstad, 19 days from Honolulu, Brooks & Co; bark Leonora, 15 days from Port Blakely; brig Deacon, 12 days from Port Ludlow. June 11th—Bark Anna, 80 days from Melbourne; ship Asa Eldridge, 144 days from Boston, bark George Washington, 14 days from Freeport, bark Adelaide Cooper, 15 days from Port Ludlow; bark Florence, 12 days from Bonbeck, brig Deacon, 125 days from Sidney, ship Lookout, 131 days from New York, bark Constance, 64 days from Auckland.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The Eastern line worked for a few hours this afternoon, but is now out of order beyond Omaha. No reports received.

The steamer Sierra Nevada which left Portland on the morning of June 9th, arrived here this morning at half past three o'clock, bringing $268,000 treasure.

The P. M. steamship Constitution arrived from Panama this afternoon with passengers and mails from New York to the 21st.

A new stern wheel steamer, called the Reform, was launched last evening from North's Yard. She is owned by Capt. Nelson, and is intended to run on the Sacramento river and its tributaries, conveying freight to this city.

Judge Dwinelle to-day granted Margaret Dwyer a divorce from her husband, Spencer S. Dwyer, on the ground of wilful desertion.

About 3 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in house No. 710, Union street, destroying that and buildings Nos. 712 and 708 adjoining. No. 712 was owned and occupied by Dr George Eldenmuller. Nos. 708 and 710 were owned by H. Hoffman, but the latter, where the fire originated, was unoccupied. Damage, about $3,000.

A. Bornstein, a carpenter residing on Copp street between Twenty-first and Twenty-second, attempted to commit suicide on Sunday night by shooting himself in the head with a pistol. He has been depressed in spirits lately, the depression at times amounting to insanity.

Since injunctions have been granted against the Pacific Telegraph Company, their offices have been closed and all their business stopped. It is now generally understood that the two lines will consolidate and the whole telegraph business on this coast and across the plains be under the control of the Western Union Telegraph Co., which owns nearly all the telegraph lines in the United States. The new line will be continued across the plains in any event whether a consolidation is effected or not, and the new line will probably be in operation to Salt Lake in August. The contract has been given out and the work is progressing on the portion of the line between Salt Lake and Denver. The old line may be run across the plains will soon undergo a complete system of overhauling and repair east of Salt Lake, where many of the breaks have occurred, and the probabilities are that before the advent of a new year we shall have two lines of telegraph across the continent, in which case the communication will be more likely to be uninterrupted.

From Australia

The bark Constance arrived here late yesterday afternoon with Auckland dates to April 4th. The Maori war was gradually drawing to a close. A letter from Wanganui Bay says there are about sixty of the natives [illegible] gents at the post. Pohi [illegible] and we are told that full four hundred of the [illegible] and Kupoko have determined upon proceeding in a few days to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] conditional surrender. [illegible] a fighting [illegible] there. It will be an expedition and a battle if needs be, strictly on their own account. They have determined that Pohi shall not retain so formidable a position as the Marguie [illegible] in their neighborhood, and that he must either surrender unconditionally or fight it out. Incendiaries are busy in Auckland. Several fires have recently occurred, which were unmistakably the work of design. One of the offenders had been arrested. The Government is treating the Maori rebels as private malefactors trying to murder, and executing them with genuine English rudeness. On the 5th of April, at Auckland, sentence of death was pronounced on twenty five natives convicted of the murder of Mr Fallon and others on board the Kate. An important discovery in flax culture is announced by the Auckland Herald, by which the raw material is cleaned with little labor and at slight cost. A man named Sellwick committed suicide at Greytown while under the influence of drink. Christy's Minstrels were in Auckland.

William Dodd is the name of the man who severely cut Westlake at Albany, on election day. He was arrested and held to bail in the sum of $400 for his appearance in the Circuit Court upon the charge of assault with a deadly weapon. In the row, Dodd received a pistol shot through the wrist.

W. R. Bishop of Linn county, has been selected by Governor Ballard, of Idaho, as his private secretary. The Governor has gone to assume the duties of his office.

The Odd Fellows of Albany have recently completed a new hall. It was dedicated last Wednesday evening.

Henry G. Langley, author of the San Francisco Directory, is compiling a work to contain the names of business men, and heads of merchants, manufacturers and professional men in the States of California, Oregon and Nevada and in the Territories of Washington, Idaho and Montana. It will also contain lists of mining, agricultural and business companies, associations, etc., together with valuable reference and information, serving as a minute geography as well as business directory.

Frank Thompkins stabbed a man on election day at Cañon Creek, while in a drunken quarrel about politics.

The Mountaineer of the 11th says: "Mr T. H. Conn, Wells, Fargo & Co's Messenger, brought from above by to-day's boat $50,030 in treasure. This makes nearly $200,000 which has arrived within the past week."

A new post office is to be established at Centerville, Washington county, to go into operation on the first of July.

The Mountaineer says an attempt was made Monday morning, to injure the boilers of the Oneonta. During the night the boiler valve was opened by some person unknown so as to allow the water to escape, and the fires the next morning burned some time before the fact was discovered. The boiler received some injury, but no other harm was done.

Capt. Williams' company of Oregon Infantry arrived at the Dalles last Monday and will be immediately mustered out.

Americanized Celestials.—The sump sinks of iniquity in the vicinity of Alder and Second streets, tenanted by the Chinese of our otherwise fair city, were last evening the scenes of bloody riot and homicide, occasioned by an eruption among the Americanized Celestials, and the successful killing of one of them by another skilled in the use of fire arms. The affray took place about the hour of nine o'clock and culminated about ten, when Ah Foey was stretched out in death with his boots on. The row began over a gambling table, as near as we were able to learn, where Ah Foey and his party attempted to rake in a "pot" they had not very justly won. The perpetrator of the deed, it is feared at present writing, has escaped, as when last seen on the chase by our reporter, he was about a block in advance of his pursuers, making good time in the direction of the timber west of town. The promised inquest will be held, when more intelligible facts will be elicited than we were able to obtain "on the spot." The dead Chinaman's complexion had changed slightly when we obtained a view of his visage, but yet his race was quite perceptible, although in one particular—earthly—extinct. He was shot directly through the location of the heart. The gushing sympathies of an eager crowd were not sufficient to compel the celestial sister who presided at the head of the corpse to unbosom her feelings, and relate what she knew of the affair, and we left the haunt, or retreat, in good order, with the above budget of incidents connected with the mortal event, realizing that celestials can be Americanized—as well as our own aboriginals.

Municipal Election.—This city has attained a growth when it becomes necessary for the public interests that municipal affairs be entrusted to the best hands that can be enlisted to take them in charge. It is a mistaken notion that the citizen who has a large individual business to attend to should not have time to devote to the welfare of the city in its Common Council. The past two years has witnessed an immense amount of business in the management of corporation matters, and no doubt some of the present Board of Councilmen would gladly resign from the responsibility of attending to city affairs, but, thankless as the task may seem, it is highly essential that these transactions should be properly conducted, and we trust that under the call of the Central Committee, which appears elsewhere in this paper, the Union men of each ward will meet together and make nominations that shall not be exceptional. The municipal ship is now sailing steady, but under a somewhat variable head wind, yet we consider that she is in good hands, and the only desire that can be expressed with regard to the condition of the voyage we are making is, that she may be kept steady in the right course.

The Philharmonic Society.—The character of the entertainment to be given at Oro Fino Hall on Friday evening next, by the Portland Philharmonic Society, under the direction of Mr. J. D. Wyatt, is fully set forth by the programme which appears elsewhere in this paper. Our people may expect on this occasion to hear those parts of music rendered in a much more than ordinary manner. The rehearsals of the Society denote something regarding the perfectness with which the programme will be run through, and we can safely assure our citizens that they will not be disappointed in any expectations they may entertain with reference to the treat that awaits them on this attendance of the first concert of this musical society. The membership of the organization now numbers some seventy persons, which is a credit to the musical culture of our city. We trust the Society may have a long and harmonious existence and feeling that this will be so, trust our people anticipate much pleasure to be derived on that account.

Shall We Celebrate?—This question now seems proper.—Shall we, as a city, or shall we not, celebrate the approaching Fourth day of July, which gave to "the people" of this great and glorious nation of ours "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness?" We desire a categorical, practical, and emphatic answer to the above question, on behalf of a virtuous and enterprising community. "Time," which suits all things, demands absolute, direct, express and positive action regarding this matter. For many reasons which we need not here enumerate, Portland should be the scene of a rousing celebration on this great natal day. Who will take the move in hand? It would be perfectly proper for the City Council, to-night, to appoint a committee to co-operate with a committee of citizens upon the subject, and see what can be done. Would it not, gentlemen of the Council?

Sailed.—If it is proper to ever announce that a steamer "sailed" out of port, it were justly so to thus designate the departure of the Fideliter last evening from Couch's wharf for Victoria. She sailed away beautifully, walking the water like a thing of life, at seven minutes past seven o'clock, and was soon out of sight, scudding under a head of steam, with fifteen passengers and forty tons of freight for the British Possessions. Her cargo consists of sixty tons of flour, and ten tons of the assorted products of our soil. We are not particularly anxious to see any number of passengers leave our State, to stay away, but we do hope to see the next shipment of freight by the Fideliter more than double the amount above stated. She will return to this port in ten days, Capt. Erskine informed us.

Delinquent Tax Sale.—The property delinquent for taxes in this county, and which has been advertised by Sheriff Stitzel recently, will be offered for sale to-day at the Court House in this city. There is a large amount of it, and purchasers will find this a good investment. Taxes must be paid. The locomotion of county and State affairs must not be clogged by hangers on, who, through negligence or from other causes, fail to meet their obligations. The law is such that purchasers of real estate for taxes will obtain a deed in two years. In case the property is redeemed within one year 25 per cent. is had on the investment, and for over one year, or within two years, 50 per cent. will be necessary upon redeeming the sale. It is a just law. The sale will open at 10 o'clock A. M.

Turned Up.—It will be remembered that about the 1st of April last J. J. Newkirk was robbed of a certificate of deposit for $1,500 and $250 in gold coin in Albany. He had given the valuables to his wife while stopping at a hotel, and she concealed them in a bed while she left the room for a few minutes, but on her return they were gone. The certificate was on Abel Guy's banking house, San Francisco, which paid the money upon Newkirk filing a bond for the amount. A dirty looking Chinaman came into the bank secretly presented the lost certificate for payment. Where he obtained it does not appear.

Hold your Horses.—A team of horses were driven into the "drink" at the foot of Yamhill street last evening, and came very near going under. After strong and united exertions on the part of "many citizens" the horses and driver were securely hauled out. The teamster was very apprehensive for the safety of his "tugs" and "lines," but being beneath water like his animals were in actual jeopardy until the leather straps succumbed to the sharp blade of a knife, and by tugging saved the team. It was a narrow escape.

Animal Sagacity.—The mule is usually considered the most sagacious of all the four legged animals, and they sometimes do things on purely scientific principles, but one of our city draymen is driving a horse that has as much sense as any mule we ever saw. This horse has afflicted shoulders, and when pulling a load it is no doubt very painful, when he lies down in the street and refuses to go. The circumstance has been witnessed by a number of people, in various parts of the city, and at last we understand the horse has become wiser, and been placed under the care of one who professes to cure the diseases of horses.

Circuit Court.—E. D. Shattuck Judge, June term 1866.—June 12th, Court convened at 9 A. M. J. D. Reed, James G. Chapman and Jas. E. Upton were admitted to practice law. Michael Hoss was admitted a citizen of the United States.....A. Richardson et al vs S. M. Gilmore, judgment for plaintiffs in the sum of $522 31..... John McCarty vs. James A. and Anna Lambert, judgment for $[illegible], and decree of foreclosure of mortgage and order of sale of east half of lot 8, block 22, East Portland. L. M. [illegible] vs. J. M. L. Nickham, coin judgement for plaintiff in the sum of $386 45..... J. White & Brothers, vs. John Owen, judgment against defendant for $191 75.

Lunch at the Oro Fino Hall.—A splendid lunch, under the superintendence of the ladies of Trinity Church, will be set out at Oro Fino Hall, after 12 o'clock to-day, open to the general public. Coffee, ice cream, strawberries, etc., etc., will be served up in the most attractive style. Of course all the ladies and their admirers will be there. Last evening the Hall was crowded with the elite and fashion of the city, and everybody seemed to enjoy themselves superbly.

Quicksilver.—A combination of San Francisco capitalists has managed to corral the entire quicksilver interest of the coast, including the New Almaden, New Idria, Lake or Reddington and Guadalupe, the total product of which for two years they have contracted for. The arrangement being consummated, they have advanced the rates to 75 cents for domestic consumption, and 65 cents for exportation.

Misnomer Corrected.—An attachment was issued from the Circuit Court yesterday, for service on the steamer Gen. Grant, but we hear that the real name of the steamer is the U. S. Grant. How the name has been so generally mistaken we are unable to say, but in future we shall call her U. S. Grant.

Cherries and Strawberries.—The growth of the finest varieties of cherries and strawberries is now perfected, and the fruit is ripe and is coming into this market sparingly at reasonable prices. The yield is not so abundant as common, but the fruit is pretty to look at and better to taste, especially as regards the strawberries.

Treasure.—"Dust to dust" was practically exemplified last evening, on the arrival of the Cascade. Wells, Fargo & Co. received $60,000, principally Boise dust, and enough arrived by other parties to make up an aggregate of at least $100,000. The mines are just now beginning to pan out refreshingly.

Ladies are Invited.—Multnomah Engine Company No. 2, extend an invitation to the ladies of the city to call and see the new steam fire engine. It will be ready for inspection by the ladies to-day, from 10 o'clock A. M. until 4 o'clock P. M.

Real Estate Sale.—Several valuable lots of city property will be offered for sale to-day, by Mr. A. B. Richardson, at auction, for the particulars of which see advertisement in the next column to the left.

MAJOR MARSHALL DEFEATED BY INDIANS.

The Statesman furnishes the following account of the defeat of Major Marshall by the Indians:

Major Marshall and Col. Coppinger, with eighty-five men, had a brush with the Indians near the forks of the Owyhee, last week, in which, from the superior numbers of the latter, they were obliged to withdraw and leave the Indians on the ground. The whole number of Indians was estimated at from four to five hundred, with two hundred and fifty to three hundred fighting men. The first day they fought across the [illegible] fork of the river, killing seven and wounding twelve Indians. In the night Major Marshall crossed the river lower down and attacked them next day in the rear. Having crossed at a point where the ascent of the bluff was very rugged and precipitous, to reconnoitre, when reaching near the top it was fired upon by the Indians from behind the rocks and one of the men killed. There being but one pass by which the top of the bluff could be reached, it was impossible to hold it against so large a number of Indians in front and but eighty-five men to work with. Major Marshall then recrossed the river and came back to Fort Boise to await the arrival of more men. In recrossing the river the only boat he had, a frail canvas affair, was accidentally swamped and the howitzer lost.

The subjoined items are clipped from the Idaho Index, Silver City:

THE ORO FINO QUARTZ MINE.

During the week, ending the 26th ult., Col. Fogus obtained from the Oro Fino rock, crushed by 23 stamps, seventeen thousand dollars. We learn that it is probable the Colonel will run 20 more stamps next week, which will nearly double the amount of bullion. The Oro Fino lode keeps improving.

MORE INDIAN DEPREDATIONS.

About the 10th of May, while a Mr. Harris, and some six others, were encamped near Summit Spring, on the Humboldt road, the Indians made a raid upon their horses, consisting of about eighty-five head, and drove them off. They were pursued, and all but about fifteen of the horses captured. During the absence of the men the Indians entered the camp and destroyed the harness, cutting and breaking the wagons, then pursued the party for about twenty five miles. Mr. Harris and party left Chico on the 6th of May, came by the way of Humboldt, lay by three days, arriving here on the 27th, making the trip in eighteen days, traveling time.

It is reported that on the 23d of May some forty or fifty miles from the Owyhee and not far from the Summit Spring, the Indians attacked a party of thirteen, drove them from camp, took fourteen horses, destroyed all camp equipage, taking the provisions. The party made their escape.

The above is not confirmed, and it is possible that it was the same attack made on Harris' party on the 10th. It is also rumored that somewhere on the road a party of six men and two women were attacked—the men killed and the women taken prisoners. We are in hopes that the rumor is without foundation, yet there is no telling when, where or how the red devils will make their appearance.

BRANCH MINT AT BOISE.

Hon. E. D. Holbrook, in a late letter, says the World, says his bill, locating a branch mint at Boise City, has passed the House. Mr. Holbrook is also very sanguine of success in obtaining a Land Office in this Territory.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers and every day he sees increasing the number of those who by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of connoisseurs, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.
BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.
Each package bears the signature of G. VENARD.

Stapleford Grange

I heard the following narrative at a dinner party in a country house about five miles from the place where the events referred to occurred and it was related to me by the chief actress in it—Cissy Miles a pretty, lady like girl of twenty, the daughter of the rector of the parish in which Stapleford Grange is situated

It was the Saturday afternoon before Christmas day, two years ago, when my six brothers, all younger than myself—and I were skating on our squire's fish pond We had been skating since dinner, and it was not till the winter daylight was beginning to wane that the recollection rushed on me that I had entirely forgotten to do a commission my mother had given me in the morning This commission was to go to the Grange, a big farm house, and bespeak some geese for dinner on New Year's Day. My mother had said decidedly, "Those geese must be ordered to day, Cissy" So I knew I should have to go, though the Grange was a mile off, although it was very cold and darkness was coming on, and although I was rather afraid of a big black dog which was chained up just in front of the Grange back door

"Who'll go with me to the Grange?" I called out quickly, as this remembrance occurred to me sitting down and beginning to unstrap my skates "I've forgotten all about the geese and mamma said I was to order them to day"

No one answered The next day was Sunday and it might thaw before Monday Every boy, big or little, seemed desirous of making the most of present opportunities

"I daren't go by myself," I called out in a pathetic tone; "it would be quite dark before I got home again."

"Tell the truth, Cis," called out Charley, a quick, good natured boy of fifteen, "and say you are afraid of Jip. Never mind, I'll come with you, if you must go." And he joined me on the bank, and proceeded to take off his skates

Thanks to all my brothers, I was a pretty good runner, and we sped across the Squire's fields and through the narrow lane toward the Grange, as fast as possible. When we got to the last field, which joined the farm yard, we slackened our pace a little, and when we got into the big court yard itself, we were walking almost slowly.

"How dreadfully lonely it looks, Charlie?" I said almost with a shiver at the desolate aspect of the place, which had been a grand gentleman's house forty years ago, but had been suffered to fall almost into ruins. "I am glad I am not Mrs Johnson, particularly as she has no children, nor anybody to keep her company when Mr. Johnson is away."

"Well, don't you stop and prose to her forever at such a time, Ciss, do you hear?" returned Charlie, good humoredly.

Jip did not greet us with his usual noisy welcome, and there was no sound of any sort about the place except the gabbling of some turkeys in the rear of the farm buildings. We went up and knocked at the door, and when I turned round I observed that Jip's kennel, which stood exactly opposite, in a line with the front of the house was empty.

"Where can Jip be, Charlie?" I said in a whisper.

"I don't know," Charlie returned, thoughtfully; "poor Jip's come to grief, perhaps. It's odd Mrs. Johnson doesn't come, I think I'll go on a voyage of discovery, stay here till I come back," and he pushed the door further open.

"No, let me go too," I said hastily, half frightened. I am a coward at the sight of blood.

"Well, don't make a row, then," and we entered together.

There was a big blazing fire in the grate, which showed that on the table the tea things were set for tea; the kettle was hissing away merrily, and some tea cakes stood to keep warm on a low stand before the fire. Evidently Mrs. Johnson had prepared everything ready for tea when the farmer should return from D— market and was gone up stairs to "clean" herself.

I had time to make all these observations over Charlie's shoulder, before he gave a sudden start, and strode with a low exclamation to a bundle of clothes which lay at the further and darker side of the kitchen, on the smooth stone floor. A bundle of clothes it looked like, with Jip lying beside it in a very strange attitude.

I shall never forget the horror of the next moment. Huddled up, evidently in the attitude in which she had fallen, lay Mrs. Johnson, with a gaping wound across her throat, from which the blood was still trickling, and Jip, with a large pool of blood near his head, lay dead beside her.

I stood for a moment too paralyzed with horror—such intense, thrilling horror, that only any one who has experienced such a feeling can understand it—and then, with a low scream I sank on the floor, and put up my hands to try and hide the horrible sight.

"Hush!" whispered Charlie, sternly taking hold of my hands, and forcibly dragging me on to my feet again; you mustn't make a sound. Whoever has done this can't be far off; you must run home, Cissy, as hard as ever you can. Come!"

He dragged me to the door, and then I turned sick all over and tumbled down again. I felt as if I could not stir another step.

"It's no use, Charlie, I can't stir," I said. "Leave me and go without me."

"Nonsense! Try again."

I tried again, but it was no use. My legs positively would not move, and precious time was being wasted.

"You fool!" Charlie said bitterly and passionately. How was a boy of fifteen to understand a woman's weakness? "Then I must leave you. It's Johnson's money they want no doubt. They wouldn't murder if they could help it, and Johnson will be back directly."

"Yes, yes, go," I said, understanding that he wanted to fetch help before the farmer came. "I will hide somewhere."

"In the kennel there," he said, looking round quickly, "and don't stir."

He pushed me into poor murdered Jip's kennel, and then he disappeared, and I was left alone in the gathering darkness with those two prostrate forms on the kitchen floor as my company, and perhaps the murderers close at hand.

I combated the faint feeling which Charlie could not understand, by pinching my arms and sticking pins into them, and after a little judicious torture of this sort, the sick feeling went off, and I could think again. "I will take off my boots," thought I, after a moment. "They make such a noise, and I may have to move," for already a glimmering plan had rushed across my brain of how I might warn Johnson. So I arose a little from my crouching position, unlaced them, and slipped them off. I had barely done this when I heard the sound of voices, and the sick trembling feeling came on so strongly that the pin torture had to be again applied. In another minute three men came out of the back door, and I could distinctly hear every word of their conversation.

"He's late, I think," said one. "If he doesn't come soon, we must go; that girl will soon be home, I heard the old woman tell her not to stop."

"What's signify?" said another. "We can soon stop her mouth."

"It isn't worth so much blood, Dick," said the third. We've only got fifty pound by this, and the farmer'll not have more."

"He ought to be coming by now," said the first, anxiously coming a step or two nearer the kennel, "Hallo! What's that?"

The tone made me sick again. Had Charley found help already? No. The three men were standing close to the kennel, and during the moment's silence that followed the man's exclamation, I remembered that I had dropped my muff. I tried to stop the quick thumping of my heart which I felt certain they must hear, and as if fascinated, I raised my head from my knees—for till that moment I had been crouching at the furtherest end of the kennel—and saw a hairy, fierce looking face glaring in at the entrance of my hiding place. I tried hard not to scream, and I succeeded; but in another moment I should have fainted if the face had not been taken away To my utter amazement, as the face disappeared, its owner said:

"I thought some one might be hiding. That's a lady's trumpery What can it mean?"

"Evidently I had not been seen, thanks to my dark dress and the gathering twilight I breathed freely now, unless something very unforeseen occurred I was safe.

"Some one has been here, and has dropped it," a voice said quickly. "That's all on account of your cursed foolery, Dick," it went on angrily "Why couldn't you stop at the door as I told you?"

"Well, let's do something now," the third said anxiously, "or we shall be having some one here."

The three men then went back into the house again, and I could hear them speak in low tones, presently the voices grew louder, and they were evidently quarreling In another minute they came out again, and from what I could hear, they began to search in the farm building and outhouses for the owner of the muff

"There's no one here," at last one called out "They must have gone away again. Go to the gate Bill, and see if anybody is coming that way."

After a moment, Bill returned to the other two, who were now standing talking in low whispers at the back of the kennel, and said

"No, there's no one coming."

And my heart sunk as I thought how long it would be before succor could arrive

"The fellow's late," one of the others said, after a minute or two, "but we had better be on the watch now Mind both of you, that he's down from his gig before he sees us"

They walked away along the line of the house toward the other entrance, by which Mr Johnson would come, and I, thinking they had gone to take up their hiding places put my head cautiously out of the kennel, and looked round

Surely I could reach the house without being seen, I thought, and if I could but reach the big, rambling drawing room window which commanded a view of the fields through which the farmer would pass, I might be able to warn him back from the fate which awaited him. I must warn him if I could—it was too horrible that another murder should be done

I was out of the kennel and in the kitchen before I recollected that I should have to pass close to the murdered woman before I could gain the door leading into the hall which I must cross to gain the dining room I shuddered as I passed the table and drew near to the horrible scene but to my utter surprise and no little terror Mrs. Johnson had vanished! The dark gleaming pool of blood and the dead dog were still there, but the huddled up bundle of clothes was gone

What had they done with it? In spite of the urgent necessity there was for immediate action I stood motionless for a minute, hesitating to cross the dimly lighted hall Suppose it should be there! I had never seen death before, and the thought of again seeing the dead woman, looking so ghastly and horrible, with that great gasping wound across her throat was at that moment more horrible to me than the thought of her murderer's return

While I stood hesitating, a shadow passed across the first window, and, looking up quickly, to my horror I saw the three men in another moment pass the second window

I had no time for thought. In another minute they would be in the kitchen I turned and fled down the passage and across the hall, rushing into the first open door and instinctively half closed it behind me as I had found it Then I glanced wildly around the bare empty room in search of shelter

There was not a particle of furniture in the room, and it was quite empty except for some apples on the floor, and a few empty hampers and sacks at the further end. How could I hide?

I heard the footsteps, crossing the hall, and then, as they came near with the feeling of desperation, I sped noiselessly across the room, laid down flat behind the hampers, and, as the door opened, threw an empty sack over me I felt I must be discovered, for my head was totally uncovered, and I watched them, fascinated, breathless with intense terror.

They walked to the window, saying, "We shall see better here," and looked out, presently all exclaiming together, "He's coming now, that black spot over there" and, without glancing in my direction, they left the room again. I was safe, but what could I do to save the farmer? Surely Charlie must be coming with help now, but would he be in time? I must try and save him, was the conviction that impressed itself upon me in a lightning thought, and as it crossed my brain I sprang to the window All thought of self vanished then with the urgency of what I had to do, I was only eager, nervously, frantically eager to save the farmer's life.

They say that mad people can do things which seem impossible to sane persons, and I must have been quite mad with terror and fright for the next few minutes.

Seven feet below me, stretching down the slope of the hill, was the garden now lying in long plowed ridges, with the frozen snow lying on the top of each of them, and at the bottom of the garden was a stone wall four feet high. Beyond this, as far as the eye could reach, extended the snow covered fields, and coming along the cart road to the left was Mr. Johnson in his gig

I threw open the window, making noise enough to alarm the men if they heard it, and sprang on the window ledge, and then tearing off my jacket, threw it on the ground, and shutting my eyes, jumped down. The high jump hurt my wrists and uncovered feet dreadfully, but I dare not stop a moment. I rushed down the garden, tumbling two or three times in my progress, and when I came to the wall, scrambled over it head foremost. The farmer was just opening the gate of the field I was in, and I made straight toward him, trying to call out But I could not utter a word So I flew across the snow, dashed through the brook, careless that the bridge was a few feet further down, and when I rushed up to Mr. Johnson's side I could only throw up my arms and shriek out "Murder!" just then a loud report rang out through the frosty air, and I fell forward on my face.

"And were you hurt?" I asked, as she paused

"Yes, a little. Look, here is the scar," and she raised the flowing fold of tarletane from her soft white arm, and pointed to a white, oval shaped scar.

"And Mrs. Johnson?" I asked.

The girl's face became very grave

"She was quite dead. The men had put her under the dresser, which explains why I did not see her as I passed through the kitchen, and the poor husband went away directly afterward The whole house is uninhabited now. Nobody will live there, and of course it is said to be haunted I have never been there since that day, and I think I shall never dare go there again."

English and American Oratory.

[From the New York Independent]

We are fond of a graceful and eloquent speech. For instance, we would have given a good deal to hear Mr. Greely's critical remarks at The Tribune dinner. Unable to be present there, we have been perusing recent addresses by Mr Andrew Johnson of Tennessee, and Mr Gladstone of England. Perhaps we are prejudiced, but on the whole we prefer the style of the English orator. Nevertheless, a careful comparison of those two masters—one of the English, and the other of the American language—shows many incidental points in favor of the gentleman from Greenville

1. The Englishman, owing perhaps to an insular education, depends mainly on monologue; the American, accustomed to whistling for echoes among mountains, invokes the aid of dialogue Mr. Johnson is accordingly an adept in answering those longer and shorter catechisms which are sometimes propounded by an exhilarated mass meeting. Mr. Gladstone's orations, on the other hand, lack those graceful replies to the happy interruptions which have elicited from the President his most sparkling hits We have searched in vain through Mr. Gladstone's recent effort for any parallel passage to the following "What," inquired Mr. Johnson, "is the veto power of the President?" "It is to put down the nagur!" responded a Fenian. The oratorical effect of this vivid interruption—this dramatic flash of lightning, as it were—beggars even the picturesque description of it which Mr. Painter sent to Mr Greely's morning edition

II. Mr. Johnson always makes a point of remembering the character of the audience whom he is addressing—never delivering to one class of persons a speech designed for another. The exordium of his address to the soldiers and sailors as in the following strain of sympathetic eloquence: "It is not affectation in me to say that language is inadequate to convey the heartfelt feelings produced on this occasion by your presence." Now how inappropriate such a remark would have been in his speech to the negroes! In like good taste he exclaimed, "And when I say the people, I include soldiers and sailors!" How malapropos would have been any inclusion of the negroes! These instances serve to show with what skill Mr. Johnson always cuts his coat according to his cloth

III Mr. Gladstone has translated Homer, but Mr J. eclipses Mr. G, in a fine Homeric knack of choosing metaphors from the lower animals—and particularly dogs. "And now I want to know" asks the President, "why it is that the whole train of slanderers and calumniators and traducers have been barking and snapping at my heels. They have turned the pack loose upon me to lower me in your estimation [Voices They cannot do it] Tray, Blanche, and Sweetheart, little dogs and all, come along snapping and snarling at my heels." Now, we take it for granted that Tray is Charles Sumner, Blanche is Thaddeus Stevens, and Sweetheart is Wendell Phillips So, lest this venturesome trio should approach too near the President's heels, let them take warning of the terrible fate recorded by the poet

"The man recovered from the bite,
The dog it was that died"

IV Mr Johnson is superior to all living orators in the art of felicitous allusion to those personal sacrifices made by one's self, which, in the handling of a master, can be rhetorically pictured as sufferings, and, at the same time, politically used as capital Thus, in speaking to the soldiers and sailors, the President said, "It is not necessary for me to allude to the privations and hardships of those who were engaged in the struggle to achieve the national birth" Accordingly, instead of mentioning the sufferings of others, he made a graceful reference to sufferings of his own Witness his artistic management of the subject "Who has sacrificed or imperiled more than the humble individual who addresses you? Where is the man in public or private life who has suffered more, or who has devoted more of his time and energies to the accomplishment of the great end than I" This is the true strategy of special pleading Perhaps so glowing a statement concerning Mr Johnson's self devotion, if made by such a person as Thaddeus Stevens, and based on no other authority than a mere member of Congress, might pass for a hoax, but, coming as it does from the President of the United States, its authenticity ought forever to settle the doubts of that unbelieving Pennsylvanian.

V Mr. Johnson handles past history with a greater freedom than Mr. Gladstone exhibits. "When the rebellion in Massachusetts was put down," says the President, "did that put Massachusetts out of the Union and destroy that State?" Mr. Gladstone would probably have been restrained from this historical reference by the fact that the rebellion in Massachusetts occurred before the adoption of the Constitution of the United States.

VI Mr Johnson differs from Mr Gladstone in high philosophy "Men in being free" says Mr Johnson "must deny themselves many things which seem to be embraced in the idea of universal freedom" What these things are which must be denied the President does not state They are probably civil rights On this point Mr Gladstone might not agree with Mr Johnson But as to political rights, we are happy to know that these two great statesmen perfectly accord Mr Gladstone eloquently says "The point which I ask you to observe is this, not the comparative merits of English or American institutions but this single and important point of the effect that has been produced in America by largely extended popular franchises by a widely spread participation on the part of the people in the choice of their Governors" Now, the applause which followed this statement was fully equalled by that outburst of enthusiasm which came from the people of Nashville and of the whole nation at the utterance of a similar sentiment by Andrew Johnson when he said "Loyal men, whether white or black, shall alone govern the State"

In thus noticing these points of difference between English and American oratory, we conclude by repeating our preference for Mr Gladstone, but it must be confessed that if Mr Johnson is to go on in his present vein, he will at last be unequalled by any orator either of ancient or modern times

SPIRIT OF THE PACIFIC LOYAL PRESS—The Marysville Appeal says the Democrats could find no Constitutional power to coerce the rebels when they walked out of Congress, but they now find coercion to walk them back quite Constitutional And further the same paper says the issue will be a square one "Is treason or loyalty a crime? Shall traitors or patriots be honored?"

The Carson Appeal says the people of Tennessee know Johnson better than any body else, and the fact that they have repudiated him is the best possible proof of his unworthiness to be trusted by loyal men.

The Sacramento Union says the meaning of Jack Bunsby Seward in his Auburn speech is that the people should stay at home, attend closely to their private affairs, and leave the business of reconstruction to the President and his superlative Cabinet.

The Sacramento Bee says the only object of our Legislators is to regulate the affairs of the country on a basis which will insure the permanent restoration of peace and prosperity, and render treason an impossibility in the future

The Union says the President's policy has been denounced in every important Union Council, by the loyalists at the South, and at such elections as have taken place since the controversy in February was fairly opened

The Territorial Enterprise, of the 20th instant says if it was entirely ignorant of the President's plan, a knowledge that it was endorsed by all the Copperheads and traitors in the land would be a sufficient evidence of its rottenness. The men who labored to the extent of their ability to destroy the Union, are incapable of countenancing a just and equitable plan for restoring it The differences in the politics of Congress and the President may be "unessential" in the estimation of some, but they are not so regarded by the Democratic party, nor can they be so regarded by any Union man.

WELLER & BROWN—The Eugene Journal wants to know what Oregon has done to be cursed with such wandering rebel vagabonds as John B. Weller and Beriah Brown Our opinion is they thought Oregon a place of refuge for Copperheads from California, but your election last Monday has driven them to the verge of seeking repose in the penitentiary, where Democratic principles always maintain the ascendancy.—Yreka Journal.

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.
